

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY
COURSE OUTCOME
UNDER CBCS

Sociology Hons

Semester -1

CC1 –Introductory Sociology -I

- CO1.To provide a basic outline of the discipline of Sociology.
- CO2.To delve with the socio-historical emergence of Sociology as a discipline.
- CO3. To delve with nature and scope of Sociology.
- CO4.To provide knowledge of basic concepts required to understand the subject.
- CO5. To focus on the difference between sociology and common sense.

CC2 –Sociology of India –I

- CO1.To provide an outline of Indian society.
- CO2.To deal with various concepts and institutions of traditional Indian society such as caste, jati, varna, tribe and village.

Semester -2

CC3 –Introductory Sociology –II

- CO1. To delve with the plurality of perspectives that have emerged to study society in general.
- CO2. To deal with critical analysis of such perspectives.

CO3.To deal with general arguments of particular perspectives, contribution of noted thinkers.

CC4 –Sociology of India –II

CO1. To study Indian Society from Indological and Ethnographic approaches.

CO2. To deal with contemporary issues of resistance, mobilization, and how such issues have helped the society to change and march forward.

CO3.To deal with challenges Indian society confront in contemporary period which has its root in past.

Semester 3 CC5 – Political Sociology

CO1. To contextualize the study of politics in society from a general perspective.

CO2. To understand and use of basic concept of political science such as state, power, governance, citizenship in understanding society.

CO3.To understand the relevance of such concept in understanding power dynamics in Indian society.

CO4.To understand the importance of intersectionality of variables such as caste /class, patriarchy in understanding society.

CC6- Sociology of Religion

CO1.To understand Religion as a sociological concept.

CO2.To understand how religion and society intersects in contemporary world.

CC7- Sociology of Gender and Sexuality

CO1.To delve with issues of gender as a social construct.

CO2.To understand basic concept of gender, gender differences and inequalities.

CO3.To understand how to negotiate power structure through gender lens.

Semester 4 CC8 –Economic Sociology

CO1.To understand, analyze society through the lens of Economics and to get an overview of the systems of production and consumption from ancient period to contemporary times.

CO2.To understand contemporary issues of development and globalization.

CC9- Population Studies

CO1. To get an over view of Social Demography.

CO2.To understand population studies from different perspective.

CO3.To understand population from gender and economic perspective.

CC10- Social Stratification

CO1.To understand, analyze the concept of stratification from theoretical as well as practical perspective.

CO2.To understand innumerable variables of stratification operating and institutionalized in our society.

Semester 5 CC11: Sociological Thinker –I

CO1.To delve with the origin and development of Sociology as a distinct discipline.

CO2.To understand noted classical sociological thinkers and their thought process in understanding society.

CC 12 – Research Methods –I

CO1.To give a basic outline of how to conduct research in Sociology.

CO1.To understand basic concepts used in social research and its practical relevance.

Semester 6

CC13- Sociological Thinkers –II

CO1.To help students to understand the interlocutors of the discipline.

CO2.To understand how the post classical theorist analyze and critique their understanding of society.

CC14- Research Methods II

CO1.To provide in-depth knowledge of how to conduct a social research.

CO2.To deal with how to practically use statistical methods to conduct social research.

CO3. Students will be able to undertake field work and report writing.

Skill Enhancement Course (Sem 3 & 4)

SEC A (1) –Reading, Writing and Interpretation in Sociology

CO1 To help students understand the text, relate with new contents of existing knowledge.

CO2.To understand a text from general comprehension as well as critique an argument.

SEC A (2) – Gender Sensitization

CO1.To help students understand, analyze gender from a sociological perspective.

CO2. To sensitize students on gender issues as well as contemporary legal enactments.

SEC B (1): Statistical Reasoning for Sociology

CO1.To help students learn the use of Statistics in understanding society.

SEC B (2) – Theory and Practice of Development

CO1. To help students understand the concept of development from a general theoretical perspective as well as Indian perspective.

Discipline Specific Elective

DSE –A- (1): Urban Sociology

CO1 Introducing students to the concept of Urban Sociology.

CO2.To understand various perspectives of Urban Sociology.

CO3.To understand problems of urban space with reference to India.

DSE –A-(2): Sociology of Work and Industry

CO1. To help students comprehend interlinking of work and industry.

CO2. To help students to understand different forms of industrial culture and organization ,dimension of work ,work in informal sector.

DSE –A (3) – Environmental Sociology

CO1.To understand Economic Sociology and various approaches to understand Economic Sociology.

CO2. To acquire knowledge about environmental movements in India.

CO3.To comprehend global issues related to environment.

DSE –A (4): Agrarian Sociology

CO1.To understand agrarian societies and agrarian studies in India. CO2.To understand theories and key issues in Agrarian Sociology. CO3. To understand agrarian future of India.

DSE –B (1) –Indian Sociological Traditions

CO1. To understand Indian Sociological thinkers and their thought process which helped to frame the Indian Sociological Traditions.

DSE –B (2): Sociology of Visual Culture and Media

CO1. To introduce students to Visual Culture and Sociology of Media.

DSE –B (3): Sociology of Health and Medicine

CO1. To introduce students to Sociology of Health and Medicine.

CO2. To introduce students to the theoretical orientation in health and illness.

CO3. To help students negotiate health and illness.

DSE –B (4): Field Work and Dissertation

The program objectives require students to do field work and write a dissertation by using any method as prescribed in the syllabus.
